

September 28 2008: 26th Sunday in Ordinary Time

Jesus said to them, "Amen, I say to you, tax collectors and prostitutes are entering the kingdom of God before you. When John came to you in the way of righteousness, you did not believe him; but tax collectors and prostitutes did. Yet even when you saw that, you did not later change your minds and believe him." - Mt 21:31-32

Further reflections on cohabitation –

Forty-three percent of all cohabiting households include children. In about seventy percent of the cases, these are the children of only one partner.

Only one-third of these children will live with both parents throughout their childhood. When cohabiting couples break up, the fathers are less likely to support the children financially or maintain contact with them.

Studies show that children of cohabiting couples are at greater risk for behavioral and academic problems. They are also more likely to be sexually or physically abused. The most dangerous of family environments for children is when the mother is living with someone other than the child's biological father.

The gulf between what is acceptable in the eyes of our increasingly secular society and what is acceptable in the eyes of God grows wider every year.

Secular society tells you there is nothing wrong with living together, even though researchers have proved in study after study that cohabitation has a negative impact on the couple and on society as a whole. Secular society will tell you to do whatever you want to do.

The Church tells us that God is love, human beings are created in God's image, and God has instilled in us a deep desire to love and to be loved. But the love between a man and a woman can be expressed authentically only in the Sacrament of Matrimony, which offers permanence, mutual respect, and openness to children. The Church will tell you the truth about what God wants you to do.

Whom are you going to believe?

Pro-Life: If abortion is the answer, it must be a really stupid question. Killing of the innocent is never an answer to a problem. Bring the baby to full term; adoption is the caring option.

Spiritual Book Study introductory meeting on Wed., Oct. 8 from 6–7:10 pm in the Family Center for adults interested in taking part in the book study. At our last parish mission Fr. Jim mentioned numerous books on spirituality by well-known Catholic authors. It has been a while since the mission. This will be a great opportunity to revisit, continue our study and be inspired by using the books the mission's key thoughts were based upon. At this introductory meeting we will review those titles suggested and choose a spiritual book that we as a group will read and discuss. For those whose children are in CCD during this time, this is a chance for you to model your commitment to continuous learning about our faith by doing something for your own enrichment while your children are in class. All adults are welcome. For more information, call Pat Scherer at 562-2252.

Prayer for Rain: God, our Father, we are in need of rain. We place our trust in You. Look on our dry hills and fields, dear God, and bless them with the living blessing of soft rain. Then the land will rejoice, and the rivers will sing Your praises, and the hearts of men will be made glad. Amen.
